Folks shared their personal revelations and insights from reading this book after we all enjoyed a delicious potluck dinner. It was a wonderful evening. When it seems there is so much that divides us, we're excited to offer another opportunity for learning and community fellowship with our friends at the Beth Shalom Temple.

UUFF ART SHOW

Hi, I'm Jason Bradshaw, Wildlife photographer.

I was born, raised and still live in Fredericksburg, Virginia.

For as long as I can remember I have always had a love for animals, camping and the outdoors in general. This love for nature has taken me to some amazing places.

I have traveled to some of the most beautiful places on Earth, met some very talented photographers and decided to give it a try for myself. Well, that interest has since turned into a passion for me and has been an absolute blast ever since!!

During my backpacking adventures I have been blessed to have some incredibly amazing wildlife encounters. One of my most memorable is when I came across a mother black bear and her 3 cubs! I was absolutely scared to death and fascinated at the same time! That's the day my love for bears began. I have since had over 1,000 bear sightings, encounters, and experiences!!

In recent years I've started sharing some of these experiences and encounters through pictures and prints.

I hope you enjoy them as much as I have.

Basket Contributions: As the UUFF ventures further into the 21st century, we are adding text giving to our options of ways in which contributions may be made to the Fellowship. Now that we have returned to in-person services, the text option will remain useful for those who cannot attend, or don't have cash or checks with them.

receipt via email. For future giving, simply send a text with the amount you wish to give, and your contribution will process automatically. Please visit Vanco Payments for more information. We hope this new way of giving will be helpful. As always, the missions of the Fellowship depend wholly on the generosity of our members and friends. Your support is vital, and much appreciated.

What are you doing on March 23? You are invited to a VERY unique party here at the UUFF. We are going to be watching the movie that everyone is talking about - Everything, Everywhere, All at Once. Have you seen it? It is mind-blowing, to say the least.

I thought it would be fun and enlightening to watch that together with 50 of your closest friends - eat some great food - and discuss the implications of the movie. Does that sound like fun to you? Then March 23 is the party for YOU.

I will bring all the food. You are invited to bring your own plate and utensils and any adult beverage you prefer - but everything will be provided. FREE OF CHARGE! You just come, relax, laugh, discuss, eat.

I just need you to RSVP by Friday March 22 noon in order to give me time to get enough food. You can call/text me (540-360-8128) - email me (music@uuffxbg.org) or contact the church office by phone or email. Let us know how many are coming. We'll do all the rest.

Why am I (your music director) doing this? First, and foremost, because I LOVED this movie and want to enjoy it with you. Second - this will be a fund-raiser for the music department. We will take an offering at the party. Anything you give, over and above the cost of the food will go to the music department, so we can continue to provide you with inspirational music each week.

Will you come? Bring a friend or two? I promise it will be a mind expanding time. I hope to see you there.

Join us as we celebrate St. Patrick's Day with a magically delicious Lucky Potato Feast at the Fellowship on Saturday, March 16th at 6:00p.m. The Friendship Committee will provide the baked potatoes, butter, and sour cream, and non-alcoholic beverages for this potato-y potluck. Bring the whole family, along with a favorite potato topping, side dish or dessert to round out the buffet, and/or your favorite beverage (alcohol is not discouraged – it is St. Patrick's Day Eve).

We will have Irish background music, and musicians are encouraged to bring their instruments if they'd like to share a song. A few activities and games will be on hand or you can bring a family favorite. All ages are encouraged to attend. We won't be offering childcare at this event, but parents are welcome to bring (and keep an eye on) even the tiniest tots. And since there's no better way to get to know each other, we'd like to extend a special invitation to those who are new among us. Join us, and get better acquainted at this relaxed, casual get-together celebrating food, fun and fellowship. Hope to see you there!

Wondering Out Loud

Rev. Doug McCusker

This Fellowship has an inspirational mission that is both inwardly and outwardly focused. We work to nurture learning, inspire spiritual insights, create compassionate relationships, and lovingly transform our community and the world. Our mission was built on the premise that if you focus outward to change the world through love and compassion, you become the change that the world needs. And while some organizations' mission statements are just words, the Unitarian Universalist Fellowship of Fredericksburg constantly turns our words into action.

As I begin the process of leaving you all for retirement, I am starting to reflect on all that we have accomplished together over the almost 9 years that I have served as your minister. Guided by our mission, we slowly and surely transformed individually and collectively. I know I did. Many people have left, and many people have joined. Through it all, we remained true to our mission. The Fellowship now is completely different from the one that I fell in love with and came to serve. And I still love you all because the transformation that I speak of has spiritually deepened us with service as our guide and love at our core. We loosely followed a strategic plan to transform, and yet it happened along the way. We overcame the adversity of the pandemic by keeping our focus on our mission. We said goodbye to our long serving staff members and welcomed new people by keeping our focus on the mission. Soon, you will replace me with a new minister. And if you keep your focus on your mission, you will not only survive, but you will also thrive.

Right now, we are in that magical time of reflection and dreaming that we call the Stewardship Campaign. It is a special time of the year because it brings us together around a collective goal. A financial goal that powers our ability to serve our mission. It's an "All Hands on Deck" effort that deepens and broadens what it means to be part of a transformative community. It reminds us that each of us plays a critical role in the success of this Fellowship. You're using your money to lovingly build something that transforms our community and the world. By making your pledge of financial support, you are declaring your allegiance to the mission of this community. You are building something that will last for future generations. Thank you for all that you do for this Fellowship. If you haven't made your pledge yet, please click on this link [MISSION] to join the the transformative power of making our dreams a reality.

Yours in Fellowship and Love, Rev. Doug McCusker

Loved Ones,

I am sitting at the hospital bedside of my dear friend Ray Davis. He fell while at his home and has been in the hospital for five days. I have been in this hospital too often in the last couple of years, first with his wife Natalie and now with Ray. Natalie died in December. The family is asking for a Hospice referral for Ray today.

President's Corner

Kit Carver

This makes me think back to how I met these folks and how I came to love them so. Ray was the long time registrar for Stafford County and Natilie worked with the schools. I first met them in that capacity. I really got to know them in the UUFF.

Ray lived in Stafford County for a number of years in a big house with a very big flower garden. Natalie was the vision, Ray was the workhorse. Natalie had a fish pond built by Ray in the shape of a fish. They hosted tea parties on the porch overlooking the beautiful gardens and pond with a stream that Ray also made. The parties were a part of the At Your Service Auction. They had their 50th wedding anniversary at the Fellowship and invited everyone to it. I remember how they danced. Their connection to each other was an inspiration.

I am very sad to see Ray and Natalie pass from this life, but I am also so very honored to be a witness and comfort person to the process. They are the family I have chosen. The UUFF is the family I have also chosen. It is strange that through the years I have come to love all the UUFF people. There has been a revelation that I have learned that I can love individuals that I don't particularly like. I can love them for their steadfast support they show others and not like them for the way they communicate. If I had not stayed with the UU all these years I doubt my heart could have learned this lesson.

I pledge each year, not for the minister and not for the programs, I pledge to this community that I love and believe in. I hope you, the reader, can be so blessed.

So get your pledge in. It has to be done every year so the Fellowship can plan its budget. Whatever your reason is, just do it. Please.

~ Kit Carver, President BoT

Embracing Transformation this Spring

Dear Unitarian Universalist Fellowship of Fredericksburg Community,

As we welcome the arrival of spring, a season that beckons us towards inner and outer transformation, I find joy in sharing the latest updates about our R.E. Program
Springtime Reflections:

Whatever your theological grounding, from theistic beliefs to humanism, spring holds a universal call for renewal. We may be inspired to spring clean our homes, develop new routines, or emerge from our winter cocoons and spend more time with families and friends. Some of us will feel the ease of seasonal depression lifting as the extended days provide us with more Vitamin D. As we witness the natural world awakening, we are inspired to engage in our own processes of rejuvenation.

Revamped Sunday Morning R.E. Program

I'm excited to share a significant transformation in our Sunday morning Religious Education (R.E.) program. The classes have been realigned to mirror the topics explored in our worship services. This intentional integration creates a more cohesive experience for our entire congregation, fostering deeper connections and shared understanding. In the past month, we delved into discussions around equity and justice, aligning with the themes explored in our services. From learning about Malcolm X to embracing the platinum rule of treating others as they wish to be treated, our students have engaged with powerful narratives, including the story of Mr. Rogers and his role in ending segregation in public pools. We've also explored the intersection of joy and justice. (If you want to have a lot of fun, just bring some balloons to the R.E. program on a Sunday morning).

This month, our collective focus shifts towards the theme of Transformation. In R.E., Our classroom topics will include mental health, personal transformation, the meaning of Easter, the significance of Ramadan, and the joy of the celebration of Holi.

Youth Group Lock-In and New Advisors

For our older students, the Youth group is hosting a lock-in on March 1st - 2nd. Your participation and support are warmly welcomed, whether through providing food or helping with clean up – contact me if you would like to help. Additionally, I am delighted we have two new volunteer youth advisors who will play instrumental roles in enhancing our youth program.

Safe Zone Training on March 3

Mark your calendars for the Safe Zone training on March 3, taking place in the main hall after service. This workshop offers personal and congregation-wide growth opportunity, equipping us to become better allies and accomplices to LGBTQIA+ youth. As we undergo this training, let us keep the memory of Nex Benedict in our hearts. The work of creating safe spaces for youth in our congregation is sacred, life-saving work.

In the spirit of continual transformation and shared growth,
Mandolin Restivo

Monthly Theme – Transformation

Make a bit of room. Leave a little space. That may not sound like anything radical or revolutionary. But it turns out that it is one of Life's favorite ways to make us into something new. Watch out for all the heroic talk about striving and perfecting, struggle and control. Much of the time, transformation is a much subtler art. It's about stillness, listening and waiting to be led, not fighting with yourself and others to make sure you are in the lead. In short, when it comes to transformation, the message of spirituality is "Be careful with what you've been taught and told about transformation because much of it takes us in exactly the wrong direction." Our challenge as communities of transformation is to remind each other to take those different tacks. Such as: It's about breathing rather than becoming better. It's about patience not perfection It's about depth not dominance. It's about attention not improvement. That part about attention instead of improvement is especially important. It's so easy to get transformation mixed up with fixing. And fixing is transformation's biggest foe. Trying to purify or perfect ourselves is the surest way to stay stuck. The pursuit of purity and perfection focuses us on our inadequacy and inferiority. So, friends, this month, leave some room on that dance floor of yours. Keep your eyes peeled. See attention and attending as your greatest assets and tools. And when that unexpected guest reaches out its hand, don't be afraid.

Life Under Construction: Excuse the Mess

When we look back on our lives with all the twists and turns we've taken, it's hard not to notice how many coincidences and mysterious situations occurred that seemed to put us in the right time and place to take advantage of things that changed our lives. What's going on? Is it true that "everything happens for a reason?" Are things happening to us or are we actually making things happen? Let's unpack these questions and see where it takes us for the things yet to happen in our lives.

Transformation as a Community Practice

By: Rev. Doug McCusker

The last thing that organizations and groups want to do is change. It is built into their systems to preserve stasis. This provides the least stress, especially for those with power. And yet, as the Buddhists teach us, everything is impermanent. The world is constantly evolving. As a religious community, we are constantly seeking to refine how we serve each other and the world. Inevitably, this leads to a deepening of our relationships and an internal shift of transformation. We can resist, or we can embrace transformation as a spiritual practice.

Cultivating Transformative Prophetic Spirituality

By: Phoenix Bell-Shelton Biggs

Join us in exploring the intersection of faith and activism as we delve into ancient wisdom and contemporary relevance. We will discover the power of prophetic spirituality to ignite personal and societal transformation as we learn how our UU faith calls us into Prophetic action.

Ageism Unmasked: Exploring Age Bias and How to End It

By: Tracy Gendron

In this eye-opening presentation, Dr. Gendron begins by exclaiming to the audience, "Everything you know about aging is wrong." This provocative and admittedly hyperbolic statement opens the door to a broader understanding of the myths, misconceptions and manipulations we have come to accept about growing older. Using her sharp wit and real-world examples, Tracey transforms decades of research about age discrimination into a thought-provoking and often humorous conversation and provides actionable steps toward overcoming ageism within ourselves, our communities, our policies, and our culture.

Is There Resurrection Without Death?

By: Rev. Doug McCusker

Our body is our only home in the universe. It is our house of belonging in the world. To spend time in silence before the mystery of our bodies brings us toward holiness and wisdom. Easter is a season to reflect on our internal resurrection within the one body that we know. And to celebrate the conduit of our souls that connect us with others. Join us for Easter, Flower Communion and Transgender Day of Visibility. It will be a full day of celebration.
